Intrinsic Attends Industry Trade Shows

September 25, 1997. Intrinsic Software Inc. announced today that it will be attending two industry trade shows next week and will be announcing further industry partnerships and product announcements during these shows. Intrinsic has been invited by a number of industry partners, including Annasoft Systems and RadiSys Corporation, to participate at the Embedded Systems Conference West in the San Jose Convention Center and the Developers Conference East in the Washington, DC Convention Center. Both events are being held September 30 through Oct 2, 1997.

Intrinsic Software Inc. (VSE:ICS) supplies software tools and components for the development of Microsoft Win32® based embedded systems. These tools and components enable OEMs to rapidly develop software applications for a wide range of consumer and commercial electronics products that span multiple industries.
